

CONVERGENCE THROUGH FILMMAKING WITH MS. SAMIA

Ms. Samia's workshops:

"What if you made your intercultural experience into a movie? Each series of workshops will be divided into five modules: acting; scripting; costume and prop making; storyboarding; shooting. Each craft will be approached with one purpose in mind: storytelling. Together, we'll learn how to circumvent budget limitations in order to do what we must with what we have. Along the way, we'll also unveil many of moviemaking's secrets. At the end, we'll have a small film in our hands, that we might even decide to edit and share with the world (editing is an optional feature, as it requires a specific software and certain technical skills)."

Ms. Samia's background:

Trained in advertising, design, marketing and filmmaking, Ms. Samia's been working for nearly 20 years as a freelance filmmaker. She's worked on a dozen feature films as a producer or assistant director, and been involved in countless advertisement projects. She's also an accomplished poetry writer and visual artist. As an educator, Ms. Samia's worked with children in the context of various art therapy and charity projects in Chennai.
